BART DORAN.

The Fugitive, Figure in a Tragedy at Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 24.—Bartholomew J. Doran, a lightweight pugilist of note, who came to this city from a town a week ago, accompanied by his wife and year-and-a-half-old boy, suddenly disappeared with his wife Friday morning, and their child, which was apparently in good health Thursday, was found dead a few hours later in the room occupied by the couple. When Doran and his wife came here they engaged a furnished room at the residence of Mrs. Catherine Hower, 51 St. Joseph street. The child appeared to be in perfect health, and was seen by Mrs. Hower playing about the house daily.

At 6 o'clock Friday morning, Mrs. Doran came down stairs dressed for the street, and after lingering about for a few minutes was joined by her husband and the two left the house without saying anything to whom they would return or where they were going. When at 6 o'clock they had not returned, Mrs. Hower became alarmed about the child and instituted an investigation. She found the door of the room locked, the woman difficulty she was horrified in finding the dead body of the infant, without a vestige of clothing upon it, lying on top of a trunk.

In the room there was every evidence that the occupants had indulged in a night's carousal, and made a hasty departure. Cards and beer bottles were strewn about the room, and the room was otherwise in an untidy condition. An autopsy on the child's body showed that death did not result from natural causes.

Doran's decapitated body was found Friday afternoon by the tracks of the railroad, one mile east of Windsor Beach. The coroner was notified, and on his arrival at the place was told by him that he was watching the body that a woman had walked over on the track.

The coroner followed up the trail in the direction the woman had taken. He found a woman, who told him that her name was Mary Doran, and that the man found dead on the track was her husband. The coroner placed her under arrest, and she is now in the police station. She told the coroner this story:

"My little boy was sick last night. He could not stand up, and fell two or three times, cutting his head. About 9 o'clock I got him quiet and I went to sleep. I slept till early morning, when my husband woke me up and told me that he had a boat. A train came along, and he said he had to go. He said, 'I killed him; I gave him morphine.' He said we must go away or we would be arrested. We took a Lake avenue car and went to Charlotte. Then we crossed the river and went to the police station. We spent the day walking on the shore. Bart said it would be better if we were all three dead, and wanted to get a boat to take us out on the lake to drown me, but could not get a boat. A train came along, and he said he had to go. ## She Got There.

The maiden her best talents used
And hours in writing spent,
But all the editors refused
The piece that she sent.

One day the maiden went to town
Where shopping women go,
And bought her a handsome gown
Of figured cotton.

And so before the mirror she
Admiring glances cast,
You know she said, "I see Myself in print at last."

LACK OF ENTERPRISE.

That's What's the Matter With the Sandy Valley.

The Courier Journal says: William E. Connolly, of Kansas City, Kan., writes a letter to the Paintsville Courier which is refreshingly breezy and faithfully true in telling the people of Eastern Kentucky how culpable they are in steadily neglecting the development of resources, which in many less-favored but more energetic States would long ago have been made the foundation of prosperity.

He draws some of those pointed and pertinent contrasts which are the very things needed just now by Kentucky people, who lack, more than any other one thing, not the power only, but the desire as well, to see themselves as others see them in matters of business. Mr. Connolly devotes considerable attention to the one item of salt, in which Eastern Kentucky might, if it would, do an extensive business.

"How many thousands of dollars are sent away from Johnson, Floyd, Pike, Martin, Magoffin, Lawrence and Morgan counties every year for salt?" inquires Mr. Connolly. "Let some of your commercial men figure up how much. It is a very considerable sum, I'll warrant. And it might be and ought to be kept in Johnson county. There is the Preston well, below the Spradlin well across from the upper part of town, and the Collins well at the foot of Jennie's creek. The waters of these three wells could be brought together at the Preston well for $1,500 or $2,000 spent for pipes and laying them, and there is probably natural gas enough in the wells, that would come along, to furnish fuel to boil the brine into salt. If the gas could not be used, what is wood worth? Thousands of cords of it rot on the hillsides near by every year. Or coal; how much is that worth? Manufacturers prefer salt and fine coal, such as is thrown aside at your mines. And labor; how many people in Johnson county work for 50 cents a day, and take that in hogs jaws—jowls, they call them—to season sound dock for greens? Would they not rejoice to get $1 every day—a big shining, silver dollar? And would not your stores rejoice if they got that much, for they would spend it?"

"The only reason why you can't make your own salt, and salt for other people, is that your public men do not see the necessity for a spirit of public enterprise. They think it can't be done. They laugh at the idea, and they make the average clod-hopper laugh at the idea, and they make the said clod-hopper keep on raising three barrels of corn to the acre to sell to get West Virginia salt at twice the price it should be made at home."

Mr. Connolly's graphic picture of the idlers in some of the mountain towns, wasting their energies whitening goods boxes and spitting tobacco juice at cracks in the floor of the country grocery, have a wider application than he gives them. Somebody with a turn for curious statistics might figure out the increase in the wealth of the State that would result from utilizing the labor of the innumerable loafers of our towns and villages.

Holding the Bag.

Healer's place of business at Peach Orchard Wednesday and found what was left of the store in the hands of another party, who claimed to have bought the stock, Atkins, Barchett &amp; Ratcliff got in their work on everything in sight, including a large shipment of produce which was stopped on the road. ## Bank Failure.

The Second National Bank of Ashland closed its doors Tuesday because of a lack of funds. The officers claim to have enough cash and "gilt edge paper" to bring everybody whole. ## Weather For July.

Rev. Ire Hicks promises the following varieties of weather for the month of July:

Pleasant summer days at the first of the month.

A storm period from the 5th to the 7th, followed by a somewhat cooler spell up to the 10th.

It will then grow very warm, increasing to the 13th and culminating in heavy storms about the 16th, which is the central day of the storm period. Probably light storms to the 18th. Very acceptable weather to the 22, when the changes preceding a storm period may be expected.

These storm periods will be made up of bluster, with threatening clouds and local rains, rather than excessive rains. The general supply of rains will probably be light.

After a day or two of placid weather the last storm period will begin on the 26th and last till the 30th.

We look for much violent disturbance at this time, and hope for reasonable rains, but shall not be surprised if there are more severe bluster, electrical displays and rapid transitions from heat to cold, than rain. At all events we may reasonably expect a respite from summer heat at the close of the last July storms.

The Assistant Secretary of State has written the News that Governor Brown's object in postponing the execution of Hall to August 11th was not for the purpose of allowing him time to "prepare," but that a postponement was made necessary by the fact the Court of Appeals did not "finally pass" on the appeal of the case until June 15th, the day previous to the date set for the hanging. All we know about it is that the decision was announced in the papers a considerable time before that day. It may, however, be a red tape route by which the Governor gets the news from the Appellate Court which accounts for the difference in time.

The cry of hard times is louder than any other at present, but to take a view of the amount of business the Flying Dutchman is doing it would seem that there must be some mistake about the scarcity of money in this community. It takes the cash to get whirled into a dizzy condition on that contraption, and we are informed that as much as $75.00 has been invested in the senseless amusement (?) in one afternoon and evening. $40.00 and $50.00 are said to be the usual receipts of an evening. It is all right for the children occasionally, but do you think men and women look well on the thing? At any rate they should give the children a chance.

Where the sucker is there will the fair also be. The former individual is altogether too numerous in this town and county, and the latter comes in and reaps the crop often enough, the Lord knows. And allow us to remark that these statements are entirely opportune, being suggested by "things moving and having their being in our midst. Don't be a sucker."

Forsooth cash Spencer will sell any one a single barrel of flour at cost and carriage on July 4th.

The Best Medicine.

J. O. WILSON, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas, thus speaks of Ayer's Pills:

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. I have used them in my family and recommended them to my friends and employees for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge, many cases of the following complaints have been completely and by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flat, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colic. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, at the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disease I have named above."

Permanently Cured

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Sulphur Springs, C. H., Va.

Random Points on a Trip, and Hints to Visitors.

Mr. T. E. C. Brinley Has the following to say about the Electropoise and how it cures after effects of La Grippe:

Office Brinley, Miles &amp; Hardy Co., Louisville, Jan. 30, '93.

Gents:—While attending the Memphis fair some months ago, I was attacked with severe pains in my arms and legs, the effects of grippé of last winter. I met your agent there, Mr. Harbett, who is an old friend, and he insisted that I use the Electropoise at his office, which I did, with wonderful results. In a short time the pains left me, and I concluded to rent a "Poise. When my rental time had expired I bought it, and would not part with it for any consideration. It is certainly a wonderful instrument, and it is more wonderful as to how it does its work, yet it does.

I think it is the duty of every man to make known to the afflicted anything that will be of any benefit to them, and the Electropoise certainly will. Respectfully,

T. E. C. Brinley.

Mr. Brinley is one of the oldest and best known plow manufacturers in the country.

The diseases cured by the Electropoise are not confined to any particular class of ailments. By its use oxygen is absorbed through the pores and membranes, adds strength and vigor to the entire system, and will cure any disease where there is vitality to build on and a cure is possible.

We invite all to call or write and get full particulars.

REMEMBER

A Shoe is never misrepresented in our house in order to make a sale. If we tell you it is all solid leather you can depend upon it. We were showing a man a shoe last week at a VERY LOW FIGURE. He said it could not be all leather at that price, so we cut it open right through the sole for him, and he bought NINE (9) PAIRS.

In Men's Shoes

We will sell you CALF OR KONG: in Congress or Lace, Plain Toe or Cap, in any size:

Men's Shoes, worth $5.00 for $4.00
" " " $4.50 for $3.50

These shoes are all worth as stated above—the only reason we offer them for so much, less—is because we have not got the trade for this fine class of shoes.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Random Points on a Trip, and Hints to Visitors.

While fairs in all lines are numerous, there is an especial sentimental multitude of those selling pictures, maps and guide books of the grounds. They cry them in your ears at the railroad station, boat landings and at the gates outside the grounds, falsely shouting the "Official Guide." If the visitor will bear in mind there is but one "Official Guide," it is the only guide sold within the grounds, and await entering the fair before purchasing, he will avoid a petty imposition. As the genuine "Official Guide" sells for 25 cents, there is not much at stake, but it is just as well to avoid even a small swindle by the outside fakir, if you care for a guide book at all. The genuine guide book is an especial and for those who wish to make rapid work of seeing the fair.

Appropriately heaped in between the woman's building and horticultural hall, is the one devoted entirely to the use and comfort of the little ones. It may sound strange to many mothers, to hear that their babies can be "checked" like baggage, and taken care of and amused by competent nurses, and yet for a small sum, these mischievous, fun-loving children are tenderly watched over and looked after while mother is sight seeing. 'T would take a whole letter to describe all the useful and helpful things here shown, to aid parents in rearing and educating both the mind and body of their loved ones.
